15th March 2024

Dear parents/carers and families,

This week, I write the newsletter while sat in my pyjamas and dressing gown!! I am in school, but like the children I have donated to Comic Relief and come to school in my pyjamas. It's very strange how just something as simple as wearing my pyjamas has completely changed the way my brain is working. It makes me realise how important it is to ensure that the environment we teach our children is consistent. We try really hard here to make sure that our school is calm, clutter free and that all of our displays are very similar. This allows our children to be able to continue their learning and continue to use resources in the classroom efficiently when they move from class to class as they grow through the school. We have a lesson structure, style and pedagogy that enables children to recall key knowledge, know more and remember more over time. This approach has been recognised by many TPAT schools, and we have had many visitors coming to see how we do things - because we do a really great job!

It has been wonderful to see so many of you come to parents evening meetings with class teachers. It's really important to us to communicate and work with you as parents as much as possible. Learning does not just happen at school, it happens at home too and without a strong partnership between home and school it is very difficult to ensure a child reaches their full potential. If you have not managed to have a meeting with your child's class teacher or do not have an appointment booked, please do get in touch and come and see us. If you wish to have a meeting with Mrs Watkins then please contact the office and we will be happy to help.

I sincerely hope, after all the fun and memory making of today with the children in their pyjamas, your children come home calm and ready for a relaxing weekend. Although my children are older, I am fairly sure I have no hope of this in my own home this weekend! Please do have a wonderful weekend, good quality family time and we will see you all again next week. Thank you for all of your support and hard work as always.

With warmest wishes as always

Mrs Ellie Watkins
